SUPPLEMENT TO MOTION FOR
EXTENSION OF TIME FOR FILING A REPLY TO
THE OPPOSITIONS TO THE MOTION OF THE
COALITION TO ENHANCE DIVERSITY FOR AN ORDER
REQUIRING THE SERVICE OF CERTAIN DATA

On December 30, 1994, the Coalition to Enhance Diversity ("Coalition") filed on its own behalf and on behalf of its members a motion for extension of time to reply to the Opposition of the Association of Independent Television Stations, Inc. ("INTV"), Viacom, Inc. ("Viacom"), and King World Productions, Inc. ("King World"), and to the Comments of Capital Cities/ABC, Inc., CBS, Inc., and the National Broadcasting Company, Inc. (collectively, the "Networks") to the Coalition's motion for an order requiring commenters to serve certain data on all other commenters. In its motion for extension of time, the Coalition requested an extension of the reply date from January 3, 1995 to January 17, 1995. The Coalition hereby supplements its motion and respectfully requests that the Commission extend the reply date to January 20, 1995. The Networks, INTV, Viacom, and King World do not oppose the Coalition's motion.

for an extension of time or this supplement.

The Coalition filed its motion for extension of time in order to permit the parties to pursue an informal resolution of the Coalition's motion for an order requiring the service of certain data. To that end, the Coalition has conferred with counsel for INTV, Viacom, King World and the Networks. The Coalition was willing to attempt to refashion its request in a manner that would allay the other parties' concerns, e.g., regarding burden and confidentiality. For example, to minimize the burden, the Coalition was willing to discuss eliminating the requirement that parties serve copies of publicly available documents or requiring only that they be filed with the Commission. Similarly, to alleviate the confidentiality problems, the Commission was willing to consider receiving only aggregated data when the data was based on proprietary information or limiting the underlying data to outside counsel and economists. On January 11, the Networks informed the Coalition that it would not agree to serve the data called for in the Coalition's motion on other commenters. On January 12, counsel for INTV, Viacom, and King World similarly informed the Coalition that they would not serve their economic data on other commenters.

As a result of the length of time that the Coalition, the Networks, INTV, Viacom, and King World have spent attempting to resolve the issues surrounding the Coalition's motion, the Coalition has found itself with only two business days to draft and file its reply, under the schedule originally in its motion for extension of time. Therefore, the Coalition respectfully requests that the Commission extend the time for filing the Coalition's reply to January 20, 1995 rather than to January 17, 1995, the date the Coalition originally requested. This brief extension of three days will not prejudice any of the parties to this proceeding, nor will it delay the filing of any party's comments to the Commission's Notice of Proposed Rulemaking. Indeed, as mentioned above, the other parties do not oppose such an extension. The procedural motion, moreover, has no bearing on the drafting of the comments themselves.

For all the aforementioned reasons, the Coalition respectfully requests that the Commission grant its motion for extension of time, as supplemented.

Respectfully submitted,

Diane S. Killory
